MADRID, June 1.

INTELLIGENCE has juſt been received here of another dangerous inſurrection of the Chileſe and Sangles, &c. in the iſland of Luconia or Manila, which was not quelled when the advices came away, and was likely to end in very ſerious conſequences. The inſurgents roſe in the night, and after killing ſeveral of the Spaniſh Alcaides, and other officers, ſeized upon the fort, which commands the entrance of the river, took poſſeſſion of moſt of the ſhips in the harbour of Cavite, which town they made themſelves maſters of. The Governor of Manila, who luckily eſcaped their fury, was preparing to quell them, which it is hoped is by this time effected.

Vienna, June 12. We are now informed by the public papers, that his Imperial Majeſty is ſafely arrived at Vi-Egyhar, or Loeſkirchen, in Tranſylvania, where he intends to ſtay a few days; and though it is not mentioned where he intends to go when he leaves that place, it is the general opinion, that he will go to Moldavia and Walachia, the ſeat of the preſent war, which is a very remarkable thing in the preſent ſituation of affairs.

All the letters lately received from Conſtantinople agree, that the Turks are uncommonly embaraſſed with the bad ſucceſs of their arms, and with the accounts that are daily brought of the great progreſs the Ruſſians make. They have juſt received the news that the Turkiſh army, commanded by Dageſthanli Ali-Pacha, has been totally deſtroyed by the Ruſſian General Potemkin; and though the particulars were not exactly known, yet they were aſſured that the loſs was very conſiderable, and that the Commander himſelf, and Muderin Oſman Pacha were made priſoners of war. This loſs was followed by another greater, and of worſe conſequence; for Abdi-Pacha, Boſtagni Pacha of Adrianople, and Chiaoux-Pacha, expecting that Dageſthanli Ali Pacha would be attacked by the Ruſſians, marched with their troops to his aſſiſtance; but as they came too late, and their troops were much fatigued with their march, they were immediately attacked, and ſhared the ſame fate; and the three Commanders, and a number of officers were made priſoners, and their army beaten and ſcattered, on the 25th and 26th of April. Count Romanzow, who was ſoon acquainted with the victory obtained by his General, diſpatched an army of 15000 men, which paſſed the Danube near Tulcia, to ſupport him, and being joined by them, General Potemkin advanced, without meeting with any oppoſition to near Caraſow, in order to beſige Varna, where the Ruſſian priſoners are ſecured, and where they will have a communication with the Ruſſian ſquadron in the Black Sea; ſo that in caſe the army of the Grand Vizir ſhould be defeated, or meet with the leaſt check, Conſtantinople will very ſoon be blocked up. In the mean time the loſs of the above four Commanders is computed to be equal to that of loſing half the army.

On the 17th of May a Tartar arrived at Conſtantinople, who brought the report, that the 15,000 Ruſſians, who paſſed the Danube near Tulcia, are entirely ſurrounded by the Turks; and that the Grand Vizir, with his army, marched on the 6th of May to join the other armies; and that in conſequence of his march General Romanzow will paſs the Danube, and a general battle will enſue, the event of which they impatiently wait for at Conſtantinople; as, if the Ruſſians gain a victory, it will be very near putting an end to the Ottoman empire.

LONDON.

June 8. A Jew died lately at Berlin, who left immenſe ſums of money in a variety of odd legacies, and amongſt the reſt, a million of ducats to the King of Pruſſia; and ſent to the King, who came to him the day before he died, when he read this part of the will to his Majeſty, and then ſaid, you have taken from me as much already againſt my will, but of this I do make you a free gift.

June 18. They write from Peterſburgh, that the chief of the Don Coſſacks, who was confined in the fortreſs there, by order of the Empreſs, for a miſdemeanor, has been privately put to death, and that his great wealth has been ſeized for the uſe of her Majeſty; but that it is judged this will prove a troubleſome affair to the Empreſs, as he was well reſpected in his own country, and it was thought had he been brought to a trial by a Council of War, which was appointed for that purpoſe, he would have been acquitted.

June 19. Prince Mazareno will not return again to this kingdom in his ambaſſadorial capacity, but the Comte de Ricla is appointed in his room. This Comte was Governor of Havannah, on the ever to be regretted reſtitution of it to the Spaniards.

A turbot, weighing only eight pounds, was ſold at Billingſgate, on Saturday laſt, for eight guineas.

June 21. It is ſaid the expences of the ſham fight at Portſmouth will be 22,000l. Better ſo than in briberry and corruption.

A correſpondent at Portſmouth informs us, that a tradeſman there had engaged part of his houſe, during his Majeſty's ſtay at that place, to three foreigners of diſtinction, at the moderate price of 100 guineas.

June 23. Among other ſtrange cuſtoms of manors in England, there is one, that whenever the King comes to Lotheby manor, near Guilford, in Surry, the Lord (who is at preſent Col. Molineux) is to preſent his Majeſty with three whores. Lotheby manor lies in the road to Portſmouth; and his Majeſty muſt go through it.

Lodgings at Portſmouth are 25 guineas for a week, and 10 guineas for a ſingle night.

June 25. The enemies of government cannot betray their malice more, than in cenſuring our Sovereign for his excurſion to Portſmouth. It is hard indeed, if he muſt be denied the pleaſure that the meaneſt of his ſubjects are not debarred from, nay, in the worſt of times, will have their Sunday's jaunt; but if he, for once in his life, goes to ſee one town in his dominions, more than London, a whole torrent of abuſe muſt accompany him. Shame on ſuch incendiaries!

All the expences attending the Portſmouth review will be paid off immediately.

The following is the ſource of the King of France's late indiſpoſition: Madame Barre, one morning, told his Majeſty ſhe had a favour to aſk him; and he, without the leaſt heſitation, told her he would grant it. She then ſaid it was her deſire to go Portſmouth, to ſee the naval review: This ſtruck him very much; however, at that time, he ſeemed to acquieſce very freely; but the next morning he was taken very ill, and his phyſicians, being previouſly inſtructed to ſay ſo, declared his diſorder a dangerous putrid ſore throat. Matters being thus unluckily circumſtanced, Madame Barre found ſhe could not, on any pretence, leave her paramour; a knowledge of this perfectly recovered him again.

We are credibly informed, the miniſtry have adopted the plan formed ſome years ago, for eſtabliſhing a regular Cuſtom-houſe and offices at Shetland; where certain duties are to be paid by the Dutch and other foreigners, yearly reſorting for the benefit of the herring fiſhery on the coaſt of that iſland.

Lord Sandwich, after the firſt day's review, having aſked a clergyman, whether such a profusion of fire and smoke did not give him an idea of Hell? The Rev. Ecclesiastic replied---"Yes; especially as I observed your Lordship to be in the midst of it."

It is computed by those well versed in naval affairs, that there are more ships of force, by one third, at present ready to put to sea, in the several ports of Europe, than at any time since the commencement of this century---A very seasonable memento to England, to endeavour to maintain its wonted superiority.

The former proportions of the naval force of Europe, divided into 20 parts, was England 7, Holland 6, and the rest of Europe 7. It is now a doubt whether England and Holland, taken together, form one half, or England alone above six parts out of twenty.

A number of small frigates and armed sloops are, we hear, now fitting out in the several Spanish ports. It is said that they are intended to protect their trade in the Mediterranean, and the Streights Mouth, against the piratical states; but the more prevailing opinion is, that this armament is chiefly designed for the Spanish main.

Very strict orders have, we are informed, been dispatched by the Court of Madrid to their several Governors in the West-Indies, to prevent the illicit practices carried on by the Dutch and English in those seas.

The real cause of our officers quitting the Russian service is, the envy and jealousy which prevails among the Empress's officers. Envious of Englishmens abilities and acknowledged reputation, they embraced every opportunity to undermine and injure them; and when dispatches were sent from Admiral Elphinstone to the Russian Admiral, to be forwarded to their Ambassador in London, they were treacherously suppressed. This was repeatedly done, and the discovery only made when the Admiral returned to England.

June 26. By letters from Vienna we learn, that several Chiefs of the Polish confederacy have lately arrived there, to put themselves under the protection of the Emperor.

They write from Toulon of the 11th instant, that the Count d'Estaing's squadron, consisting of seven ships of the line, was preparing to sail for the Mediterranean, to protect their trade from the insults of the Barbary powers.

Orders are certainly given for shipping off 1000 stands of small arms, with proper accoutrements, for the Electorate of Hanover.

An express lately received from the Court of Madrid, is said to contain further assurances of his Catholic Majesty's pacific intentions.

Letters from several parts of Hungary mention a strong expectation of a rupture breaking out between the Court of Vienna and the Turks.

By the Captains TYRIE and MILLER, arrived here from London, we have the following Advices, viz.

STOCKHOLM, June 12.

THE King began to encamp last Sunday at Laduguard; his Tent is in the midst of his Guards. His Majesty assembles his Councils in the Morning, and in the Afternoon exercises his Troops. The two Princes, his Brothers, are also encamped, and assist at the Exercises.

Warsaw, June 16. A Russian Courier, dispatched the 9th inst. by Field Marshal Count de Romanzow, is just arrived at the Hotel of Baron de Stackelberg, the Russian Minister here, and has brought him the following Advices:

"On the 29th of last Month, General Weisman attacked a Body of 12,000 Turks in their Camp, killed 1200, made 1500 Prisoners, and put the rest to Flight. The Russians seized, on this Occasion, all the Artillery belonging to the Turks, the greatest Part of their Baggage, and six Flags."

It is given out here, that as soon as the whole Russian Army shall have passed the Danube, the Austrian Army will act in Concert with them against the Turks; but these Reports stand in Need of Confirmation.

The Delegates have had several Conferences among themselves. This Session on Friday last was very tumultuous. Affairs would have been protracted to a great Length, if the Ministers of the three co-partitioning Courts had not pressed them vigorously. In the Session of Saturday, the Conferences were limited to the 3d of next Month. It is said that the King will assist at the approaching Sessions, to restrain by his Royal Presence those whose Dispositions may be too animated.

Hambourg, June 25. The Advices which we receive from Moldavia continue to be favourable to the Russians. Many of their Piquets have made Incursions on the other Side of the Danube, and repulsed the advanced Posts of the Ottomans. However, we have not yet learnt whether the Grand Army hath passed the above River. It is composed of 61,000 Foot, and 23,400 Cavalry, besides 2600 Canoniers. According to this List, the Army of Field Marshal Romanzow will consist of 87,000 Men.

Warsaw, June 18. Advices from Petersburgh import, that the Empress of Russia has written a letter to Prince d'Orlow, signifying her will and pleasure, that he should resume the functions of the offices which have been confided to him.

The same advices add, that this letter having been registered in the Senate, the Prince Orlow had again taken upon him the charge of all his posts and dignities, from which he had been exempted for some time past.

Amsterdam, July 1. Private letters from Batavia, dated the 6th of November last, advise, that M. Vanderburgh, Governor of Samarang, being then at the eastern point of Java, had found means to put an end to the war between the East-India Company and the Balemboeangers or Bantlers, by the conclusion of an amicable treaty; so that the public tranquility was entirely restored, not only in the island of Java, but in the country bordering upon Balemboeang.

Petersburgh, June 11. The letters which arrived yesterday from Moscow brought the melancholy account of a fire having happened in that city, by which upwards of one thousand houses were burnt. It broke out on both sides of the river, and was not extinguished at the departure of the post. There have likewise been fires at Kostrom and Chabacsar, which have done great damage; but it is hoped that the linen manufactories at Kostrom have been saved.

Edinburgh, July 2. We hear from the Isle of Sky, that near 800 people have agreed to go to North-Carolina, and have engaged a vessel at Greenock to carry them over, which is to sail next month. We hear that about 300 people in Glengary have also agreed to go to New-York, and are to set sail about the same time.

LONDON.

June 29. It is now confidently reported, that Lord Mansfield will retire from the Bench as soon as the present term is over.

Letters dated June the 15th bring an account, that a conspiracy had been formed by the Polanders against their Excellencies the Prussian, the Emperor of Germany's, and the Russian Ambassadors, wherein the two former were actually murdered, but the latter found means to escape.

General Paoli has at last obtained a very considerable post in the King of Sweden's army.

Extract of a Letter from Warsaw, June 18.

"His Polish Majesty has just delivered instruments to the Ministers of the three powers, containing the following resolutions, which the King solemnly declares he will abide by. That he will not accede to any one act of the Dyet, unless all the foreign troops are withdrawn from the kingdom of Poland, and great Duchy of Lithuania. That he will declare the acts already passed as illegal, and will call another Dyet to be held at Cracow, and will issue orders to all his subjects, not to furnish the foreign soldiers with any kind of provision, &c. These declarations are signed by the Prince Primate, and most of the grand officers of Poland and Lithuania."

They write from Hamburgh, that two Russians of distinction have just arrived there, to negotiate a loan for the service of the Empress of Russia.

July 1. Letters from Paris, by yesterday's mail, advise, that the troubles in the province of Guienne are at length appeased, the arrival of 36 ships, laden with corn, having caused all fears of a famine to vanish.

Extract of a Letter from Madrid, June 10.

"The liberty which the ships belonging to the Russian fleet in the Mediterranean have lately taken, of anchoring in any of the Spanish ports, without obtaining leave, has given much offence to our Ministers, and has occasioned fresh orders to be sent to the Governors of all the ports, not to suffer it for the future."

July 2. The report concerning the Aurora frigate seems to gain credit, though at the expence of probability; the account, as contained in a letter from Bombay, is briefly, that after having parted with the Hound and Stag sloops, off the Cape, the crew, irritated to despiration, by the repeated acts of barbarity and oppression from their officers, mutinied and killed every officer on board; after which they commenced pirates; and some months since, chasing two Dutch ships of considerable force, a circumstance they were ignorant of, they were, after a bloody engagement, themselves taken, and carried to St. Helena. This account blames the obstinacy of the Captain in parting company with the two sloops, and proceeding in a course against the advice of the most experienced seamen.

On Saturday a messenger was sent with the ensigns of the most honourable order of the Bath to Robert Gunning, his Majesty's Ambassador at the Court of Petersburgh, which was lately conferred on him by his Majesty.

July 3. It is said the Parliament will meet at the time they are prorogued to, fit a short time, and then be dissolved; and that the election of a new Parliament will be finished before New Year's Day, when the new Parliament will commence their first session.

We are informed that Lord Stormont is not recalled from his Ambassy at the Court of France, his Lordship having only obtained leave to come over on his own private affairs, and will return thither within two months.

We hear the following changes are intended to take place in the law, viz. Lord Mansfield to retire with a pension of 6000l. per annum; Sir Fletcher Norton is to be created a Peer and Chief Justice of England; Mr. Thurlow succeeds Sir Fletcher Norton as Speaker of the House of Commons and Chief Justice in Eyre; Mr. Wedderburn is to be appointed Attorney, and Mr. Wallace Solicitor General.

An extract of a letter from the Hague says, "Cash was seldom known so scarce in Holland as at present; a very trifling sum has been negociating for some weeks past for the Empress of Russia, which, though on a very beneficial footing to the subscribers, fills very slowly."

Extract of a Letter from Cracow, June 18.

"We have just received advice here from Guesna, that the Prussian troops in that city have seized the treasure which was in the Cathedral, amounting to several hundred thousand ducats, and stripped the tomb of St. Adelbent, which was plated over with silver by King Sigismund III. They have likewise removed those exquisite gates to the Church, which were made of Corinthian brass, and formerly belonging to the monastery at Corsinna, in Taurica Chersonesus, but were brought to Guesna by Boleslaus II. This step of Prussia is beheld with much astonishment."

Some letters from Warsaw mention, that it is thought his Polish Majesty will soon retire to the Court of Petersburgh.

Extract of a Letter from Hamburgh, June 24.

"When his Prussian Majesty reviewed his troops at Marienburgh, the Magistrates of Dantzic dispatched two Deputies to compliment him on his safe arrival, and to petition him about a reconciliation with their city. At their arrival they were introduced to him upon the field of review, and as long as they were complimenting he appeared very gracious to them, but as soon as they began to petition, he immediately gave them the sign to retire.

"They write from Thorne, that they expect, with terror, to hear his Prussian Majesty's last resolution, as that must fix the fate of their city, and oblige the inhabitants to take the oath of allegiance to him, as they can find no protection from the King of Poland, nor any assistance from the other powers of Europe.

"We learn from the frontiers of Turkey, that the inhabitants of Bulgaria destroy their own houses and corn fields, and fly towards Constantinople, that their effects may not fall into the hands of the Russians."

A correspondent, in a tour this week through the counties of Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, and part of Hertfordshire, informs us, that the late rains have been of infinite service to the crops of corn; and that there is the finest prospect of the largest crops of wheat and barley in each of those countries ever remembered.

The Russians and Turks have both lately published Memorials, accusing each other for their Obstinacy in not giving up certain Points towards fixing a Peace. The above Courts differ as greatly in their Accounts of the Behaviour of the respective Ministers at the Congress. The Russians in their Memorial say, That on their Part the Congress and Treaties were managed with the utmost Reason, Temper, and Christian Calmness; but that the Turks were obstinate, impatient, and full of Passion, which were the principal Reasons for breaking off the Negociations. While the Turks assert, that several Sittings were held, and the Time passed in reciprocal Discussions; but that ten Days before the Expiration of the Armistice, the Sieur Obrescow became more inflexible than usual, and without abating a single Article of what he had demanded at the Commencement of the Negociation, he added thereto certain Propositions equally oppressive and imperious.

"This Afternoon Lord Sandwich, and several other Persons of Distinction, arrived here in one of the Royal Yatchs from Portsmouth; his Lordship has just landed, and was saluted by all the Ships in the Harbour. To-morrow he will take a View of the Shipping, to see that every Thing is in a proper Condition; all the Stores are likewise to be examined by his Lordship, and other Lords of the Admiralty."

July 6. By letters from Paris we learn, that the reform of 24,000 infantry, made in the year 1771, is ordered to be set aside, and directions given for the several regiments to be compleated to their full complement. The same measures are likewise observed in respect of the cavalry and houshold troops. The Abbe de Terray has, it is said, remonstrated strongly against this step, and insists that a further reduction should take place instead of an augmentation.

It is currently reported, that Mr. Pownal has accepted the government of New-England, at the strong solicitations of Administration, from principles the most praise-worthy, viz. that of restoring unanimity and harmony between our most gracious Sovereign and that loyal People.

Lord Dartmouth has appointed Capt. Roberts to go on an embassy to some of the Indian tribes on the Continent of North America, in order to settle a very valuable branch of commerce.

It is a melancholy consideration, that the linen and woollen manufactures of Great-Britain and Ireland are both on the decline, and our national debt on the encrease; the first of those manufactures having decreased at least five eights between March 1771 and March 1773, and the latter almost one third within the above period.

Extract of a Letter from Portsmouth, July 4.

"This morning sailed from Spithead the Ocean man of war, with Admiral Spry on board, and the following ships under his command for the Bay, viz. the Barfleur, the Kent, the Terrible, the Resolution, and the Triumph."

Extract of a Letter from Legborn, June 3.

"A French ship belonging to Marseilles is just arrived here from the Archipelago, and brings certain advice, that the Russian squadron had attacked the island of Candia, and at last taken it entirely from the Turks, who made an obstinate resistance for three weeks; when most of their people being killed, the rest surrendered. The Russians took a great number of cannon, vast quantities of ammunition, and a considerable treasure in the island."

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, July 1.

"Advices from the army of Field Marshal Count Romanzow, confirm the several accounts of the successes against the Turks; and add, that a plan had been formed by Count Romanzow to make himself master of the province of Bessarabia, which he has effected, and taken possession of Bialogrod, the capital, and the two towns of Kilia Nova, and Killia Vecchia, at the mouth of the Danube."

They write from Riga, that fresh supplies of Shipwrights are daily arriving there, and that the building and repairing of ships go on with the greatest assiduity.

Some letters from Thorne say, his Prussian Majesty is expected there in a very short time.

The present Pope is one of the most striking examples of economy ever known amongst the Potentates of Europe, allowing himself daily for his private table no more than seven paoli, or three shillings and six-pence English money.

From Turin we hear, that the Ambassadors from France and Spain to that Court will shortly be recalled.

The Spanish ships of war, which are said lately to have sailed from Europe to South-America, with troops and stores, are supposed to be intended to put that part of the world into a proper state to resist the natives of Chili, who have lately gained some advantages over the Spaniards.

Extract of a Letter from Jassy, in Moldavia, June 18.

"The late successes of the grand army of Russia against the Turks have occasioned such a contempt of the Ottoman power, that a large body, amounting to 14,000 Russian foot, under the command of General Suwarow, had like to have been all put to the sword; and as it was, not above 5000 escaped, the rest being all killed, or taken prisoners. The circumstance was as follows: General Suwarow, with his army, had pursued a large body of the Turks from Brachsehow, in Wallachia, who retired towards the the province of Bessarabia. In many little skirmishes which happened between the advanced guards of the Russians, and the rear guard of the Turks, the former had greatly the advantage. These slight affairs lasted till the Turks were advanced to the banks of the Pruth, where they encamped themselves in a very advantageous situation, about twenty leagues below this city, near to the town of Soczow. Here they waited, in order to receive the Muscovites, who soon came up and encamped on the banks of the Pruth, about three miles to the westward of the Turks. On the first night of the Russians encampment, the Turks attacked them in their very tents, weary as they were with a tedious march; and despising the power of the Turks, they kept very little guard, as they too fatally found. The havock began immediately; and, as it was unexpected, the Russians made little resistance, and were slaughtered in heaps; but about 5000, with the General, escaped to this city; the rest were mostly killed, or drowned in the Pruth. Some were taken prisoners, amongst whom are several officers of distinction."

July 7. A great commercial company begin now to find, that they have been wrong in their calculations with respect to what sums of money they should want. The computation they had made of the sale of their teas, and upon which they laid great stress, are found to have been too sanguine, as the sale in no degree equals their expectations. They want another loan, and without this it will be impossible for their affairs to be disentangled.

Instead of selling 7500 chests of tea at the last sale, as the Directors reckoned upon, it is well known that they did not dispose of more than 2000.---Hence arises the deficiency of the 200,000 l. which they will want next month.

A letter from Petersburgh says, "Though the repeated declarations which have passed between our Court and those of Stockholm and Copenhagen have given us the strongest assurances of peace and friendship, yet, in imitation of these two Powers, our Court has resolved to send a fleet of observation to the Baltic. This fleet is to consist of fifteen ships of the line, and frigates, and will be commanded by Admiral Bashalls.

Extract of a Letter from Venice, June 10.

"Four Russian ships of the line, with two frigates and an armed polacre, have just arrived here from the grand fleet under Count Orlow, at the isle of Chios, with six small Turkish vessels very richly laden, which have been publicly sold here for 300,000 sequins. The Commodore of this fleet, as soon as he arrived, demanded an audience of the Doge, which was immediately granted, and the next day the Senate was called together; but the result of its considerations, or the real intent of its being called, is not publicly known; however, it is conjectured, that some pleasing proposal has been made to the Republic from the Empress of Russia, as the Russians are much caressed and taken notice of."

July 8. Yesterday there was a levee at St. James's, at which the principal Officers of State, Foreign Ministers, &c. were present.

After the levee was over a council was held, at which his Grace the Duke of Ancaster, Earls of Gower, Rochford, Hertford, &c. assisted.

Orders were sent on Tuesday to Portsmouth for several other ships to sail immediately, in order to join the fleet which is under the command of Admiral Spry, who is sailed for the Bay of Biscay, to watch the motions of the French and Spaniards.

Extract of a Letter from Cadiz, June 12.

"The people here are thrown into the greatest consternation by the melancholy accounts that are daily received from Manilla, in South America, of our friends being inhumanly murdered by the Chilesians, Sengles, &c. who have driven and destroyed all the Spaniards out of their settlements in that part of the world, and seized upon all their property; so that many here, besides losing their friends, will be great sufferers. Those Spaniards who are left alive are fled to some of the French islands, till they can get assistance from their native country. The city of Baldivia is in possession of the Chilesians, who there murdered men, women, and children, nay, they murdered the priest at the altar, and the ladies that had taken shelter in the churches shared the same fate. Orders are come from Madrid for a considerable fleet which lie here to take on board a regiment of soldiers, and to sail immediately to South-America, to revenge the injuries done their countrymen, and if possible to extirpate those inhuman wretches from off the face of the earth."

Extract of a Letter from Dantzic, June 26.

"The Empress of Russia interests herself much in favour of the liberties of this city against the arbitrary views of the King of Prussia. The Count de Golowkin, her Imperial Majesty's Minister, has been long engaged in conferences with the Prussian Commissary, respecting the settling of the rights, privileges, and liberties of the city on their ancient establishment, and likewise in settling the rates of custom at the port of Dantzic, and the custom-house of Westerdeep, which was farmed to the French by the King of Prussia, who has returned them the money already received, retracted the deed, and restored Westerdeep, with its contingences, to the Magistrates of Dantzic. However, he insists upon these articles: That he shall have a garrison of 5000 men, which the citizens must maintain; that they shall pay towards the new walls which are now raising round the suburbs of Alstat, Rechstat, and Voorstat; that an appeal in all criminal cases must be made to him; and that all the vessels coming down the Vistula to Lublin or Dantzic, shall pay a certain tax to him, as an acknowledgment of sovereignty."

Extract of a Letter from Copenhagen, July 1.

"The dispute respecting the sole sovereignty of the Duchy of Holstein, between the King of Denmark and the Grand Duke of Russia, is far from being settled, as has been reported. On the contrary, her Imperial Majesty of Russia has detached 10,000 Veteran troops from the main body of her standing army, which have already arrived in Holstein in support of the Grand Duke's claim. The department of war in this city have ordered the regiments of Holstein to be embodied immediately, and likewise Prince Frederick's regiment of horse, with two others, to march into the Duchy."

July 9. The Turks complain of the great havock lately made among their troops near Babahdag, as contrary to all the laws of war. The mine, say they, which committed this havock, must have been dug during the armistice. From hence they infer, that the Russians never entered into the negociation for a peace with sincerity, but made use of that pretext only to draw them into a snare, and so entrap them to their destruction. The fact, however, so far as it is at present known, stands thus: A number of the Russians had passed the Danube, and entrenched themselves near Babahdag; a body of 15,000 Turks was sent to dislodge them. As soon as they approached the Russian entrenchment, the mine was sprung, and the whole corps, dreadful to relate! in one infernal blast instantly blown to atoms. It is the loss of his troops in this manner that chagrins the Grand Signor.

Some politicians have pretended to be at a loss how to reconcile the contradictory advices of the different successes of the Russians and Turks. Of late, indeed, all accounts join in attributing victory to the Russians. Whenever it has happened otherwise, and the Dutch Gazettes have said that the Ottomans were beat, while advices of a contrary nature were pretended to be received from Constantinople, the mystery for the most part consisted in this:

The original of these advices was always cooked up in a letter at Versailles, and by order of the Miniſtry publiſhed in the Paris Gazette, the character of which, as it had been purpoſely ſet up to ſerve the Court, has ever been, that it is the beſt written and leaſt to be credited of any News-paper in Europe.

The King of Denmark, in order to keep pace with a tyrannical Monarch of the north, has impoſed a new duty of tonnage on all ſhips paſſing the ſound.

Extract of a Letter from Toulon, June 16.

"The naval armament, which has for ſome time been fitting out here, is now compleatly finiſhed. It conſiſts of eighteen ſhips of the line, from 90 to 50 guns, ten frigates, four ſloops, two bombs, and a fire-ſhip, beſides ſome gallies and tranſports. Moſt of the ſhips have their full complement of men on board, with proviſions for four months, and are fit to put to ſea at the ſhorteſt notice. What is the intention of equipping ſuch a fleet, is publicly unknown, and various conjectures are formed reſpecting it; but the moſt probable opinion is, that the armament is intended to aid the Turks againſt the Ruſſians in the Mediterranean."

It is ſaid that commiſſions have been received here, within theſe ten day's to the amount of 120,000 l. for goods, &c. proper for the American trade.

On Tueſday laſt the Preſident and Governors of the Radcliffe Infirmary at Oxford held their Anniverſary Meeting, when an excellent Sermon on the Occaſion was preached at St. Mary's Church, by the Lord Biſhop of Cheſter: In the Courſe of the Service were introduced a grand Te Deum and Anthems, and in the Evening the favourite Oratorio of Judas Maccabæus, for the Benefit of the Infirmary in the Theatre, under the Direction of Dr. Hayes, Profeſſor of Muſic. The Whole of which was performed to the general Satisfaction of the Auditors: And Yeſterday Morning the Right Hon. Frederick Lord North, attended in Proceſſion by his Vice-Chancellor, the Heads of Houſes, Doctors, Proctors, Nobility, the Right Rev. the Biſhops, &c. in their reſpective Robes, took his Seat in the Theatre, as Chancellor of the Univerſity; upon the entering of which he was uſhered in by a Band of Muſic with a grand ſpirited Overture; which ended, Convocation was opened by the Chancellor. Immediately after an Ode, written by the learned and Rev. Dr. Wheeler, and ſet to Muſic by Dr. Hayes, was performed by a very numerous and excellent Band, led by the celebrated Sig. Giardini, under the Conduct of the Profeſſor, to a crouded and brilliant Audience; which, if we may judge from the general Plaudit given to it, does great Honour to both the worthy and ingenious Authors. Many Perſons, according to the uſual Forms upon theſe Occaſions, were admitted to their Degrees by the Chancellor. An excellent Latin Oration was alſo ſpoken on this Day, in Commemoration of Founders and Benefactors.---In ſhort, the reſpectable Characters who honoured the Univerſity with their Preſence at this Juncture, the Variety of its academical Entertainments, and the Joy which appears in every Countenance, all conſpire to reflect a laſting Honour upon our ALMA MATER.

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER:

OR THE

MISTAKES OF A NIGHT.

A COMEDY.

As it is acted at the THEATRE-ROYAL in COVENT-GARDEN.

Written by DOCTOR GOLDSMITH.

THIS play is truly comic: The humour is irreſiſtible, and pleaſes in the cloſet, as well as in the theatre. It was acted in New-York, a few nights ago, to a judicious and polite audience; its ſucceſs in England was unprecedented, and on this ſtage unexampled. DOCTOR GOLDSMITH has been happy in the choice of his characters, they are ſupported throughout with great propriety, and the incidents that appear improbable, are, in general, the natural effects of the thoughtleſs ſallies of a young frolickſome country Squire.

SUPPOSED to be ſtolen from the ſubſcriber, living in Sadſbury township, Cheſter county, a BAY HORSE, about 15 hands high, has a ring of white round his near ear, about 14 or 15 years old, paces, trots, and hand-gallops; ſuppoſed to be ſtolen by a traveller, his name unknown; he wore a ſurtout, of a greyiſh colour, and a ſtraight coat, with ſide pockets, and jacket, of a browniſh colour, buckſkin breeches, which looked to be new, a ſmall beaver hat, thread ſtockings, and a pair of new ſhoes; he ſeemed to be about 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high. Whoever takes up ſaid horſe and thief, ſo that the thief may be brought to juſtice, ſhall have THREE POUNDS reward, or FORTY SHILLINGS for the horſe, and reaſonable charges, paid by JOHN MOORE. §
